

Interview Image Class

面試形象秘訣

Course Aim

In our competitive society, how do we make ourselves stand out in interviews? Every time we meet new people, we have only 4 minutes to make a good impression to others, and appearance and body language account for 55% of that impression! Through the course, students will be able learn the functions of different clothing, their own style and color, and how to show their best side. In addition, students will understand the meanings behind different body languages, which often come across through interviews.
