

Graduate Trainee
Hong Kong Telecom

CHENG Chi Chung Jason
Associate of Science in Applied Business Statistics
(currently retitled "Associate of Science in Business Analysis")
Graduated in 2014

Sailing smoothly in his academic development, Jason graduated from the College in 2014 with the Associate of Science in Applied Business Statistics (programme retitled as Associate of Science in Business Analysis in 2015). He further successfully completed the BBA (Hons) Business Analysis degree at CityU in 2017. Right after university, Jason was recruited by the Hong Kong Telecom as a Graduate Trainee. His job at present poses a high demand on his abilities in quantitative analysis and he finds himself capable of meeting the challenges well with the education he has acquired. "It couldn't have happened by chance! I was able to complete the BBA degree and to win the offer for my current job actually owing to the good foundation laid at the College. I developed myself in the basics of business management, statistics and analytical and problem-solving skills. Without the solid knowledge I have developed in the Associate Degree in Applied Business Statistics Programme, all these would not have been possible." Earlier this year, the company sent Jason to Shanghai to receive intensive training at the Whampoa Military Academy. Jason remarked, "To be honest, the training in Shanghai was real tough. It was the strong interpersonal skills and sense of responsibility I had developed through my previous education in the College which had made it possible for me to survive and thrive through the training."
